DC what now?

- DC207 is Maine's DEFCON chapter.
- DEFCON is the worlds largest hacker conference, running annually out of Las Vegas.
- We're a community driven organization by passionate people – not funded by corporate entities, and we never sponsor content (we think you already deal with enough sales pitches at work).
- Our gatherings feature presentations, workshops, CTFs, and anything else in which the community is interested.
- DC207 meetings are open to anyone and are designed to help members learn new things, meet new people, mentor others in areas you may be strong in, and provide some cohesion within the hacker culture and its members.

Past and Future Events

- DC207 in its 5th year of operation, and in this time, we've had exciting events such as:
 - Capture the flag contests (with differing areas of focus)
 - Talks from industry experts
 - Trivia / Happy Hours
 - Hands on workshops
 - Games (security focused)
- We meet (typically) every third Thursday of the month, the location varies.
- Upcoming events include, talks about debunking VPN snake-oil claims, soldering workshop (make electronic stuff!), and a capture the flag. Check out DC207.org for more information!
